Comments:

Claims 2-3, 5-9, 12, 13, 15, 18-21, 36-38 and 40 are rejected uner 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipaepd by Kuervers (U.S. 4,938,477). However Kuervers does not specifically teach that pad 25 (col. 3, lines 23-25) is compressible and therefore cannot anticipate independent claims 6, 12, 19 and 36. Pads 22 ARE described as being formed from foam and one could fairly infer that it would be OBVIOUS that pad 25 also be formed from foam. Also, Kuervers does not teach the pressing of the user's body against the pad or compressible layer as recited in method claims 36-38 and 40. The invention of Kuervers is attached at the wrist of the user but is designed to minimize pressure on the user's wrist in order not to impede blood flow through the wrist area (see col. 3, lines 43-49). The device is held in place by a clasp 17 and the user's fist.

Clarity of 35 U.S.C 102 Rejections

Were all 35 U.S.C. 102 rejections formulated in a clear manner?

☐ Yes ☒ No

(No indicates potential clear error)

Were claim limitations matched to the art?

☐ Yes ☒ Sometimes ☐ No

Was any statement of inherency clearly explained?

☐ Yes ☐ Sometimes ☐ No ☒ N/A

Comments:

In paragraph 23 of the Office action claim 39 was omitted although was clearly intended to be included in the 102(b) rejection onvr Evans. See paragraph 28. Also, the examiner rejects claim 39 under 102(b) over Evans by stating that the reference discloses pressing the user's ARM against the first surface. However claim 39 calls for pressing the user's LEG against the first surface.

The 103 rejections which rely on Kuervers must be considered unreasonable because they depend on an improper 102 rejection based on Kuervers (see discussion in the 102 section).

Section XIV. Indicia of Commendable/Outstanding

Patentability Determination: Indicia of Commendable/Outstanding

The record developed by the examiner shows an indication of allowable subject matter at the earliest time which is consistent with the file record and prosecution of the application.

☐ Yes

Through the rejections and arguments made by the examiner, an appropriate line of patentability is established which results in amendment(s) properly limiting the scope of an

☐ Yes

The search record in the application clearly shows that the examiner construes the claimed subject matter in its broadest reasonable interpretation and seeks to develop prior art from the appropriate peripherally related art areas.

☐ Yes

Action Taking: Indicia of Commendable/Outstanding

The statements of rejection, objection, and response to arguments clearly and concisely present the positions taken or recommended in the resulting Office actions including a thorough substantive explanation to convey those positions to the applicant.

☐ Yes

The Office action usually refer an applicant's attention to relevant and helpful elements, figures, and/or text upon which the Office action relies to support the position taken.

☐ Yes

The Office action indicates that the principle of compact prosecution is being fully followed. Note, the principle of compact prosecution comprises conducting an initial search which is as complete as possible including consultation with an expert in the art where the examiner lacks such expertise (see search guidelines); placing art of record which meets both the concept and the wording of the claims as well as other art which is pertinent to significant though unclaimed features of the disclosed invention; and issuing a first Office action which clearly explains the examiner's position on each essential issue in such detail that absent some unexpected consideration the next Office action may be made final.

☐ Yes

Patent Examining Function: Indicia of Commendable/Outstanding

Check one of the following statement if applicable:

☐ The Office action is formulated to advance the prosecution, correct other informalities, and develop a complete file wrapper record. The Office action also is such that it leaves little room for improvement. The Office action clearly and concisely presents the positions taken.

☐ The entire Office action is complete and accurate and does not require any substantial revision. The Office action effectively conveys the positions taken.
